Approved connectivity providers

If you are an individual attraction, tour operator, activity provider, or a reservation system that represents fewer than 100 operators, we strongly recommend working with one of our connectivity providers listed below to get your properties shown on Google, rather than integrating directly. Below is a list of fully launched partners on Google Things to do. (Please note that many more partners are in the process of integrating and will be added soon. Check the status directly with your preferred connectivity partner if you don't see them listed here).
